Pledges of Loyalty by
Speakers at Meet

Alumni of Henry Kendall college gathered at the campus of the University of Tulsa Monday afternoon and evening with their annual banquet and concert, and after exchanging each other's addresses and delivering their reports to the school, they were taken to the expanded institution.

News for their alma mater and talk of the great future of the new institution were the keynote of the gathering at the banquet and the alumni business meeting was devoted to the reorganization of the alumni organization for more efficient service to the school. Graduates of the university who were present at the meeting in the university auditorium were welcomed in their admirable recognition of the value of the instruction received at the institution.

Addressed the board of trustees and faculty members and alumni who gathered around the banquet table at Robertson hall and during the course of an excellent dinner the former students renewed old friendships and introduced to wives or girlfriends taken during the past year, they also met new babies and broke out spontaneously into the old Kendall songs. The morning class of 1921 was welcomed into the school building by John H. Greer, alumni president and toastmaster. Arthur Robinson of Tahlequah, harked back to early Kendall days and Otto C. Soy, who, after telling of the present activities of the class of 1921, promised the support of this class to the university in any way desired.

Each can play a part in making the university what was the text of a toast, "Everlasting," by Joseph C. Chaffield of Oklahoma City, who said: "The University of Tulsa is not only a school, it is a home. It is a place where the spirit of Henry Kendall, Dr. Frederick Hawley, these members of the faculty, these trustees and the student body, the university is what it is as the result of generous gifts of local classes. It is their hopes and prayers, their deeds and inspirations, their thoughts and actions, their ideas and ideals. Whenever an alumnus accomplishes anything worth while he is reflecting credit upon his school."

Miss Eunice McArthur, one of the first graduates of the new university, paid tribute to Kendall college and expressed hope that the spirit of Kendall would live on in the new institution. Vergil Jones lauded the provisions in the university charter for cooperation with other colleges and Dr. A. E. Holt of the college survey committee of the Congressional church, dwelling on the opportunity of an educational institution in a wonderful city like Tulsa, declared that the university was challenged to build itself so as to match the city.

Officers chosen to head the alumni organization for the next year were Mr. Greer, president; Arthur Perryman, vice president; Paul Handley, recording secretary; and Miss Verneeta Jones Chaffield, corresponding secretary. A charter and by-laws were adopted and the paying of $5 annual fees by each alumnus for increased publicity for the university during the coming year voted.

At the alumni concert, a dramatic interpretation of the letter scene was given by Miss Josephine Layman, while Miss Esther Handley, Mrs. Allen Williams, Miss Imogene Bailey, and Miss Evelyn Jones, well known musical selections and a scholarly address on education was given by Dr. Henry Churchill King, president of Oberlin college.

State Department at Washington
Hears Negotiations Relative to Memorandum Almost Completed.

MEXICO CITY, May 30.—Negotiations in the negotiations between President Obregon and George T. Summerlin, the American chargé d'affaires, relative to the formation of the state department in Washington have reached a stage where it is freely predicted that recognition of the present Mexican government by the United States is possible within a short time.

It is known that the memorandum presented by the charge was in such form that the Mexican president could sign it without prejudice. It is also known that the document, which was signed by the president, was a written guarantee of the United States government will be maintained with Chief of state, now in protection for American lives and property in Mexico.

The state department in its memorandum is understood to have championed no special American interests as had been intimated, but in a broad and general way to have demanded to the Mexican government that safety guarantees for all American persons and property.

Such guarantees are said to be not only physical protection, but for property rights as well.

Day and Night Job.
A motorist touring in this west managed to get his car stuck in a narrow mudhole. After he made vain attempts to escape, a boy appeared with a team. Half an hour later, the car was pulled out, and the motorist agreed to pay the amount asked and the car was pulled to dry land. After handing the money to the boy, the motorist asked, "The boy had made me out in a hole. He pulled out to today. He was work at night too." Yes at night I had water for the mudhole.
